

Turkish Now, Then German-Grandma Asks - What Next?

Grandma, is a German? That's the question that has been asked of me many times since I came to this country. I am a Turkish woman, and I have been asked to speak of my country and my people.

And now, when Grandma asks, "What next?" I must answer her. I must tell her of the future of my country and my people. I must tell her of the things that are happening in Turkey and of the things that are to come.

I must tell her of the things that are happening in Turkey. I must tell her of the things that are to come. I must tell her of the things that are happening in Turkey and of the things that are to come.

I must tell her of the things that are happening in Turkey. I must tell her of the things that are to come. I must tell her of the things that are happening in Turkey and of the things that are to come.

"Here's why it's Bay St. Louis' best-tasting milk!"

"When a dairy meets on even higher standards than the low demands... you know their milk has to be good. Borden's strict quality control means freshness... completely protects purity and flavor. We neighbors of yours who produce Borden's Milk are not proud to offer you this best-tasting milk. In fact, I'm always glad to recommend Borden's Milk. It's always the same... always good!"

English Compares Our School To Those Abroad

By HENRY VAN DYKE

THE first English teacher of the American people, who came to this country in 1635, was a young man from the University of Cambridge, in England. He was named Richard Hakluyt, and he was a very able and very brave man. He was the first to bring to this country the idea of a school for the children of the English people. He was the first to say that the children of the English people should be taught to read and write, and to learn the English language. He was the first to say that the children of the English people should be taught to be good and brave, and to love their country. He was the first to say that the children of the English people should be taught to be like the children of the English people in England. He was the first to say that the children of the English people should be taught to be like the children of the English people in England.
